When Does $30+43=0$ ?

When it involves placing your hard-earned money directly into the market.

If, during the first year, you LOST 30% it would take a 43% rebound the next year to get back to where you started.

What is Your Risk Tolerance?

As we move into retirement, preserving lifelong accumulated wealth, protecting principal, and collecting income become top priorities.

The Value of Safe Money Protection in the Great Recession

This hypothetical concept is for educational purposes only. Participation rates on an annuity may change yearly. Assumes a $100,000 premium, a 55-percent participation rate, and no withdrawals or no surrenders. Charges will apply with surrender. Uses an annual point-to-point crediting strategy and year-end anniversary dates for index values. A fixed index annuity was not available until 1995. Past performance does not indicate future results. Interest earned by an annuity does not include dividends.

One Rule Worth Knowing:

The Rule of 72

to Double Your Money

The “Rule of 72” estimates how long it takes tax-deferred money to double given an anticipated growth rate. Simply divide 72 by the anticipated growth rate to determine the number of years. For example, tax-deferred money growing at 5% would double in approximately 14 years (see table).

Growth Rate	Rule of 72 (Tax Deferred)*
2%	36 years
3%	24 years
4%	18 years
5%	14 years
6%	12 years
7%	10 years
8%	9 years
	Once money is withdrawn from a tax-deferred vehicle, it is taxable.

Another Rule Worth Knowing:

The Rule of 108

to Double Your Money

The other rule worth considering is the “Rule of 108.” This estimates the time needed for taxable money to double, assuming an anticipated growth rate. Taxable money will double in approximately 22 years at a 5% growth rate.

Growth Rate	Rule of 108 (Taxable at 33%)*
2%	54 years
3%	36 years
4%	27 years
5%	22 years
6%	18 years
7%	16 years
8%	14 years
	Once money is withdrawn from a tax-deferred vehicle, it is taxable.

The Rule of 100

Perhaps the simplest financial rule of thumb, but it is also one of the most widely abused!

Simply put, you take 100 and subtract your age from it. The resultant sum suggests the maximum amount of your portfolio you should have exposed to market risks.

So, for example, if you're 60 years old,  $100 - 60 = 40$ . Then according to this rule, you should have 60% of your portfolio protected from market losses and 40% in the market to optimize your long-term growth (your age is equal to the safe portion in percentage).

Then there is the senior community (the people who hold 80+% of U.S. savings and investment dollars). If you are age 70, according to this rule of thumb, you would have no more than 30% of your assets exposed to market risks ( $100 - 70 = 30$ ). Frequently seniors and retirees have portfolios that arguably have too much market risk exposure.
